PREPARATORY TO BOSTON COLLEGE.

This institution is under the Administration of "THE TRUSTEES OF BOSTON COLLEGE."

Under the act of incorporation, schools were opened September 5, 1864.

The same act of incorporation provides "that no student of said College shall be refused admission to, or denied any of the privileges, honors, or degrees of said College on account of the religious opinions he may entertain." Students who are not Catholics will not be required to participate in any distinctively Catholic exercise, nor will any undue influence be exerted to induce a change of religious belief, but evidence will be demanded of the candidate to prove good moral character.

System of Education.

The educational system of the High School Preparatory to BOSTON COLLEGE is substantially that of all other schools of the Society of Jesus. Those who are desirous of making either a scientific or historical study of that system, have abundant sources of information in the following works: Monumenta Germaniæ Pedagogica, Vols. II., V., IX., XVI.; Un Collège de Jesuites, par C. De Rochemonteix, S. J., and for a shorter, but complete, commentary on the Ratio Studiorum, the reader is referred to "Jesuit Education," by Robert Schwickerath, S. J., (Herder, St. Louis, 1903).

The subjoined brief outline of the underlying principles of the system, the dominant features of its method, and the object aimed at by its teaching will give a general idea of its purpose.

Education is understood by the Fathers of the Society in its completest sense, as the full and harmonious development of all those faculties that are distinctive of man. It is not, therefore, mere instruction or the communication of knowledge. In fact, the acquisition of knowledge, though it necessarily accompanies any right system of education, is a secondary result of education. Learning is an instrument of education, not its end. The end is culture, and mental and moral development.

Understanding, then, clearly the purposes of education, such instruments of education, that is, such studies, sciences or languages, are chosen as will most effectively further that end. These studies are chosen, moreover, only in preparation, and in such numbers as are sufficient and required. A student who is to be educated will not be forced, in the short period of his school course and with his immature faculties, to study a multiplicity of the languages and sciences into which the vast world of modern knowledge has been scientifically divided. If two or more sciences, for instance, give similar training to some mental faculty, that one is chosen which combines the most effective training with the largest and most fundamental knowledge.

The purpose of the mental training given is not proximately to fit the student for some special employment or profession, but to give him such a general, vigorous and rounded development as will enable him to cope successfully even with the unforeseen emergencies of life. While giving the mind stay, it tends to remove the insularity of thought and want of mental elasticity which is one of the most hopeless and disheartening results of specialism in students who have not brought to their studies the uniform mental training given by a systematic High School course. The studies, therefore, are so graded and classified as to be adapted to the mental growth of the student and the scientific unfolding of knowledge; they are so chosen and communicated that the student shall gradually and harmoniously reach, as nearly as may be, that measure of culture of which he is capable.

It is fundamental in the system of the Society of Jesus that different studies have distinct and peculiar educational values. Mathematics, the Natural Sciences, Language and History are complementary instruments of education to which the doctrine of equivalence cannot be applied. The specific training given by one cannot be supplied by another.

Furthermore, Language and History have always been held in esteem as leading factors in education. Mathematics and the Natural Sciences bring the student into contact with the material aspects of nature, and exercise the inductive and deductive powers of reason. Language and History effect a higher union; they are manifestations of spirit to spirit, and by their study and for their acquirement the whole mind of man is brought into widest and subtlest play. The acquisition of Language especially calls for delicacy of judgment and fineness of perception, and for a constant, keen and quick use of the reasoning powers. A special importance is attached to the classic tongues of Rome and Greece. As these are languages with a structure and idiom remote from the language of the student, the study of them lays bare before him the laws of thought and logic, and requires attention, reflection, and analysis of the fundamental relations between thought and grammar. In studying them the student is led to the fundamental recesses of language. They exercise him in exactness of conception in grasping the foreign thought, and in delicacy of expression in clothing that thought in the dissimilar garb of the mother-tongue. While recognizing, then, in education the necessity and importance of Mathematics and the Natural Sciences, which unfold the inter-dependence and laws of the world of time and space, the Jesuit system of education has unwaveringly kept Language in a position of honor as an instrument of culture.

Lastly, the system does not share the illusion of those who seem to imagine that education, understood as an enriching and stimulating of the intellectual faculties, has a morally elevating influence in human life. While conceding the effects of education in energizing and refining imagination, taste, understanding and powers of observation, it has always held that knowledge and intellectual development of themselves have no moral efficacy. Religion only can purify the heart, and guide and strengthen the will.

The Jesuit system of education, then, aims at developing, side by side, the moral and intellectual faculties of the student, and sending forth to the world men of sound judgment, of acute and rounded intellect, of upright and manly conscience. And since men are not made better citizens by the mere accumulation of knowledge, without a guiding and controlling force, the principal faculties to be developed are the moral faculties. Moreover, morality is to be taught continuously; it must be the underlying base, the vital force supporting and animating the whole organic structure of education. It must be the atmosphere the student breathes; it must suffuse with its light all that he reads, illumining what is noble and exposing what is base, giving to the true and false their relative light and shade.

In a word, the purpose of Jesuit teaching is to lay a solid sub-structure in the whole mind and character for any super-structure of science, professional and special, also for the building up of moral life, civil and religious.

Studies.

It is one of the decided advantages of the system followed in this High School, that the student may pass on, after graduation, to Boston College for which the School prepares. This secures, besides the moral influence thus gained, a uniform and homogeneous course of teaching and of training. The result of such a course of study is a continuous and normal development of the mental faculties along well defined lines, and the possession of a clear and coherent system of principles upon which any special courses may afterwards safely rest.

The course of Studies is graduated as follows:

At the beginning of the High School Course attention is given chiefly to the acquiring of an accurate knowledge of English and of Elementary Mathematics, together with such general school work as is commonly assigned to young boys at this stage of their education. This part of the course includes, also, the first elements of Latin; thus, at the very start, it is possible to begin a comparative study of Grammar. The continued use of oral and written exercises makes the teaching accurate and eminently practical.

In the second term of the first year the study of Greek is begun, and in the second year French and German are taken up.

Though it is not deemed advisable to give up, in any part of the course, the training of the memory, yet this exercise yields gradually, as the student proceeds, to the more important exercise of the judgment, to the development of literary taste, and to the exercise of the critical powers.

At his entrance into College, after the four years of preparatory training, the student is expected to be reasonably familiar with Latin, Greek, French or German, to have a practical knowledge of the grammars and idioms of these languages, and to have acquired a knowledge and command of the elementary principles of English composition. He is then prepared to enter upon his literary work, and to study intelligently and profitably the best models of ancient and modern literature. He has, moreover, laid the foundations of higher studies in Mathematics by a thorough training in Algebra and Geometry.

Religious Training.

The moral and religious part of education is considered to be incomparably the most important. Catholic students, if not excused for good reasons, are required to recite the daily catechetical lesson, to attend the weekly lectures on the doctrines of the Church, to make an annual retreat, to present themselves to their confessor every month, and if they have not received the Sacraments of Penance, Confirmation or Holy Eucharist, to prepare for their reception.

Literary Facilities.

There are various societies in which, under the moderator-ship of teachers, the work of the class-room is supplemented, or special fields of study are cultivated.

A choice collection of books, numbering about four thousand, affords the student ample means, both for preparation of lessons and themes, and for reading in connection with his studies.

Class Standing.

For each memory lesson, according to its excellence, the scholar receives a mark, grading from ten down; for translation from twenty; and for themes or composition, from thirty; as the labor of preparation of the various exercises, and their relative importance, are considered to be to each other as one, two and three.

The report of each student's class standing is sent to parents or guardians during the course of each month and at the end of each term. This report—except the one that is sent at the end of the year—is, after inspection, to be signed by the parents or guardians and returned to the Prefect of Studies.

On the scale used, 100 is the highest mark and 0 the lowest. The student's rank is determined by position in one of five grades: A, very good, 100-90; B, good, 90-80; C, fairly good, 80-70; D, 70-60; E, below 60, deficient.

At the end of each month public proclamation is made of the average of all marks in the separate departments of Classics, Mathematics and Modern Languages. The average of these monthly averages is what is termed the average of monthly results; at the middle examination, averages are given in like manner for the various branches, and a common examination average is struck. To obtain the term average, that of the monthly results and of the examinations are combined in a ratio of two to one.

In the second term or session the same method is followed, and the year's results are seen in the average obtained from the combination of those of the two terms. According to this average of results for the year, class honors and promotions are determined. The medal and premium are conferred on the first two students who have reached the highest annual average above 93; "honorable mention," on those above 85. An average of 60 is required for promotion. To prevent exclusive devotion to one pursuit it has been found necessary for culpable failure in any branch to refuse promotion in the main class. Hence students whose grand average for the year is above 60, but who have fallen below 60 in some studies, will be "conditioned" in those studies, and will not be promoted until the condition is removed by a satisfactory examination.

Parents and guardians should observe that absence and tardiness, even when excusable, affect class standing.

No student will be promoted from any class till his progress justifies advancement.

Admission.

The High School Preparatory to Boston College is for day scholars.

No student will be admitted who does not reside with his parents or immediate relatives, or, if this is impossible, with persons duly approved by the President of Boston College. Those who come from other institutions must show certificates of honorable dismissal.

Applicants for admission to the High School must be graduates either of the Boston Grammar or Parochial Schools, and these will be admitted without examination upon presentation of their certificate of graduation.

Others who are not graduates of said schools will be admitted only after passing a satisfactory examination in the matter seen in the course of the Boston Grammar Schools.

On account of age or peculiar circumstances, exemption from certain studies is sometimes conceded, in which case the scholar is placed "out of course," and is not reckoned a candidate for honors or prizes.

General Regulations.

The students will be admitted to the gymnasium at 8.20; to the class-room at 8.50.

All students must be in their respective class-rooms at 9 o'clock; those who come later must apply for an admission ticket to the Prefect of Discipline.

No student of the High School will be allowed to leave the School premises at the noon recess without permission of the Prefect of Discipline.

Exemption from any of the classes or other exercises of the School must be obtained by parents or guardians. In no case will the matter be treated of with the students themselves. In case of absence or tardiness a note of excuse from parents or guardians will be exacted.

Any conduct unbecoming the character of a gentleman will be regarded as a violation of the School rules.

Religious motives being habitually appealed to, little need has been experienced of frequent or severe punishment.

Flagrant offences, such as are detrimental to the reputation of the School, or are obstructive of the good of other students, are grounds for suspension or for conditional or absolute expulsion.

For faults of ordinary occurrence, such as tardy arrival, failure in recitations, or minor instances of misconduct, detention after school or the task of copying or committing to memory some lines of an author is usually found to be sufficient penalty.

The efforts of teachers and prefects will be much facilitated if the co-operation of parents can be secured.

Parents are, therefore, earnestly requested:

1st. To insist upon daily study at home for two or three hours.

2d. To notify the Prefect speedily in case of the withdrawal of their sons, or of necessary detention from, or tardy arrival at, school; of failure to receive the monthly report.

3d. To attend to notifications—always sent by the Prefect in the case of an unexplained absence, or for lessons notably bad during a considerable length of time.

4th. To require and examine the monthly reports, and not to omit inquiry regarding marks which fall below 70.

Daily Order.

The usual hours for school are from 9 A.M. to 2.30 P.M., with short recesses at convenient intervals.

Special arrangements will be necessary in each individual case to excuse late arrival. In every case the reasons for exemption are to be presented by parents or guardians.

During the progress of the examinations the time for closing will be somewhat anticipated.

The sum of $1,500 will furnish a High School Scholarship which will ensure the tuition of a student, but it will require the interest of $2,000 to enable the student, besides, to purchase his text-books and to meet other contingent expenses of the course.

For Scholarship in the new College at University Heights, Newton, the sum of $2,000 will be required to insure free tuition for the full course; the sum of $2,500 will cover, in addition to the tuition, all incidental expenses.

The establishment of Scholarships is greatly to be desired, for in this way many young men of excellent promise are given the advantages of a Collegiate education. To all who have at heart the best interests of youth we earnestly commend this opportunity of spreading the beneficent influence of Catholic education and of enabling worthy young men to equip themselves for the higher spheres of life and thus to aid effectively both Church and State.

Course of Studies.

The number of hours given below indicates the amount of time a week for each study.

French and German are alternatives.

The subjoined schedule of studies has been defined for the regular classical course in preparation for college. This classical Course, even though the student does not intend later to enter college, is in itself excellent, because it affords the best means of training the mind. Certain conditions, however, sometimes suggest that a student omit the study of the classical languages. For this reason there is the English course in the High School Preparatory to Boston College. For English Course see p. 66.
